Oktibbeha County Heritage Museum Collection Series 1 through 8 Finding Aid

Ever since the Stark Local History and Genealogy Annex was opened for service to patrons, people in charge of the Oktibbeha County Heritage Museum, mostly Joan Wilson and Martha Sparrow, have been bringing to the Stark Annex as donations, those items which did not fit with the scope of what the museum offers the public. This has taken place over a period of 16 years, and they still occasionally bring items to add to this collection. Likewise, the Stark Annex donates to them donated items that fit more appropriately in the local museum.

Carolyn Reed and Perian Kerr, local history librarians, processed these items initially without series names and numbers. Perian in 2021 reorganized the collection, adding these details to tie the collection together before creating and recording them in the finding aid, to make it easier

As many materials as possible are stored together in the same area, but those types of items that do not fit, like scrapbooks or newspapers are separated and stored with these type items of other collections. Document cases are stored in areas where they have enough height, depth, and width space.
